BAN ON STEEL HELMETS

Order Rescinded from April 1

"ENERGETIC ACTION"
APPROVED

Berlin, Mar. 28.—The Reich Government to-day rescinded the ban on the Steel Helmet organisation from April 1, after an investigation had showed that the affair several days ago between the Steel Helmets and the Nazis in Brunswick was purely a local matter.

At the same time, however, the Government approved the "energetic action" of Herr Klagges, Minister of the Interior in Brunswick, in ordering the dissolution of the Steel Helmet organisation.

According to an official statement issued to-day, co-operation between the Nazis and the Steel Helmets throughout the Reich has in no way been affected.

Leaders of the Steel Helmets ridicule the allegation that there is a conspiracy against the Government in which they are concerned. The affair between Nazis and members of the Steel Helmet organisation occurred on March 27 in Brunswick, when the Nazi auxiliary police raided the guard house of the Steel Helmets and arrested several leaders on suspicion of being involved in a counter-revolutionary plot.

Demonstrators' Alm.

Berlin, Mar. 28.—It has been ascertained that the anti-Government demonstrations which caused the trouble between the Nazis and Steel Helmets at Brunswick and resulted in the arrest of more than 1,200 persons, were staged by former members of the dissolved Social Democrat Reichsbanner and other Marxist organisations, who marched in bands to the Steel Helmet headquarters to be enrolled. Their aim was to bring about a cleavage in the ranks of the National organisations.

A statement issued by the central bureau of the Steel Helmet organisation, however, emphasises that, while many former members of the Left Wing organisations actually applied for admission, they were not enrolled as the statutes of the Steel Helmet organisation call for a careful examination of all applicants so that new members may only be enrolled after a period of probation ranging from three to six months. Furthermore, they can only be admitted upon being sponsored by two members of the Steel Helmet of good standing.

It is anticipated that the arrested members of the Steel Helmet will be released but the others who were arrested during the raid will be kept in custody.

Mar. 29.—About 80 of the arrested Steel Helmets were released last night their identity had been established. In his capacity as Federal Commissioner of Prussia, the Vice-Chancellor, Herr von Papen, to-day announced that no Communists elected to municipal and other communal councils in Prussian territory would be allowed to take their seats as they are all suspected of having committed treasonable acts.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

THE "GLUE POT" NO MORE

END OF FAMOUS SHANGHAI CLUB HOUSE

GOLF CLUB'S FAREWELL TO RACE COURSE

Shanghai.—Probably there is not a port on the China Coast that has not its "Gluepot" and it says something for the name—or surely for the original place of—that interesting nomenclature—that invariably the club, hostelry, mess, or whatever it is, ranks amongst the cheeriest and most hospitable in the place. Hong Kong's famous "Gluepot" certainly does, and so did Shanghai's, but after 8.30 p.m. yesterday Shanghai's "Gluepot" ceased to exist. To be strictly correct, officially it ceased to exist at 8.30 p.m.; yesterday, but there were saddened ancients who seemed ill-inclined to leave it, and they may have been allowed an extension until this morning's hour for the removal of the furniture and effects.

The "Gluepot"—by the way, it is, or was, the Shanghai Golf Club's headquarters at the Race Course—can not be called a thing of architectural beauty, but its hospitality has been amazing. It was a curious fact, too, that the big gathering of members of the farewell party hailed as veterans of the club Mr. H. Browett—unchallenged successor to the late Mr. Brodie Clark in anything ancient in Shanghai—and the comparatively youthful Crown Advocate, Mr. A. G. Mosson, which suggests that the "Gluepot" is not really very ancient.

Actually, it is not. Recurrent wars and other circumstances have left gaps in the Shanghai Golf Club's records, but it is generally accepted that the club-house was erected some thirty years ago, and that the cost of it was provided by private subscription amongst a few enthusiastic Scottish members.

Like many other things, it has to make way for modern "progress" as it is called in the case of street widening and suchlike. In this instance, the club-house has been acquired by the Recreation Trust and in future will be used as a public club-house, principally for the benefit of those who play golf on the public course—and who pay the regulation fees for such.

Last evening's official farewell ceremony was brief. Dr. W. E. O'Hara, the Vice-President, tried to adapt himself to a suitable mood, but he was not encouraged, and he closed a brief speech by falling into the general swing of things and expressing an utter bewilderment as to where the members now would be able to play bridge. After that, he presented the trophies won during the year and the members continued for a while longer to say farewell.—N.C. D.N.

THE COLONY'S WATER SUPPLY

ENOUGH FOR ANOTHER THREE MONTHS AT PRESENT RATION

According to the P.W.D. returns there were on April 1, 1933, 21 million gallons in the Island Reservoirs as against 22,33 m.g. at the same time last year. On the Island there were still 346.53 m.g. as against 250.00 last year.

The Island consumption last month was 210.50 m.g. and on the Mainland 136.34 m.g.

This leaves us with just over a three months' supply, at the present very generous ration, and without counting the useful supply still drawn from the Shingmun.

A 1s. 6d. ITALIAN CASTLE

Flood of Offers from England

ANCESTRAL CURSE NOT FEARED

London.—The stock of the ruined Italian castle in the Piedmontese Alps, which no one would buy two weeks ago even for 2s., is now soaring giddily, and has touched 10s.

No sooner had the London Morning Post's Rome correspondent's telegram on the Monte male Castle, of Cuneo, appeared, with its account of the ancestral curse hanging over the castle, and the intimation that a fresh attempt to auction it would be made on March 15, than the boom began. Reader after reader hastily sent off letters of inquiry from quiet West Country places, from the peace of an Oxford cloister, from impeccable London addresses, and from scattered parts of the Home Counties.

The bid of 1s. 6d. with which the sale in March will begin, was at once raised to 2s. For fear of losing it the bidder was ready, albeit unwilling, even to double that courageous sum.

Also, another reader swept him out of the running with an opening offer of 10s. But the matter will not stop even there. For other readers make it clear by their spirit that their hopes of an Italian castle, centuries old, complete with a private and effective curse, at "depression prices" will not be so cheaply shattered.

What are the rates, the rents, the taxes, the liabilities on medieval Italian castle? What remains of the fortress Giovanni Radice, a medieval castle, as he died in torture in 1541! What ground is attached?

Who are the agents?

Weak Teeth

are usually due to a lack of Calcium (lime) in the body

For Women

Kalzana is of the greatest value in regulating the bodily functions. Any lack of calcium results in pain and prostration, but these are quickly relieved as soon as the shortage is made good. By taking Kalzana, the scientifically approved calcium treatment, you can avoid pain and discomfort. By restoring the balance of calcium in a natural way, Kalzana must do you good, and cannot possibly be harmful.

Remember that your teeth are living parts of your body. The food they require is Kalzana, the calcium food. If your teeth get too little calcium, they become weak and liable to decay.

Such teeth are a constant cause of pain and trouble and never look healthy.

Start taking Kalzana and notice how quickly your teeth become strong and white. By taking Kalzana, pain and trouble are prevented, decay is arrested and your teeth permanently strengthened.

Make your teeth strong and white with KALZANA

Weak and difficult Children

are often so because of a lack of calcium in the body. Rapid growth demands a great deal of calcium to form strong bones and healthy tissues. When kept short of calcium, children become nervous and moody, and difficult to manage.

Children

"A listless difficult child is a child whose constitution is out of order," writes a famous physician.

After having examined a great many difficult children, he writes: "I could prove that the blood of many so-called 'difficult' children was poor in Calcium."

Rickets

are a sure sign of lack of calcium.

Give your child Kalzana, the calcium food. Kalzana will make his bones strong and straight, will overcome weakness and will prevent deformation.

Rickets

"A listless difficult child is a child whose constitution is out of order," writes a famous physician.

After having examined a great many difficult children, he writes: "I could prove that the blood of many so-called 'difficult' children was poor in Calcium."

Children take

Kalzana Tablets like sweets, a sure sign that their system is in urgent need of it.

In Diarrhoea—

Kalzana hastens the healing of the ulcerated and inflamed areas and soothes the nerves. With Kalzana the diarrhoea will very quickly stop.

"By the use of 6 Kalzana tablets daily the Diarrhoea [in two severe cases] was stopped in an amazingly short time," writes Dr. ZUNTZ, the world-famous Physician.

The opinion of well-known medical papers about KALZANA:

"The Pharmaceutical Journal of New Zealand," Jan. 1930.

"Kalzana has been used with very good results in cases of calcium deficiency, such as bone diseases, dental caries, rickets, weakness in growing children, during pregnancy, where 'a die with an excess' calcium content is necessary. Rickets (or are a typical sign of lack of calcium. Kalzana will set this right, and very soon your child will be happy and healthy again."

"The British Journal of Tuberculosis," April 1929:

"We have employed Kalzana with much advantage in the management of delicate children. It seems to be of considerable service in cases of rickets and other morbid conditions of bone and also as a preventive of dental caries. For growing women Kalzana is often beneficial."

"Whenever there is evidence of disfunction in the body, lack of Calcium is probably a contributing factor," writes Dr. H.F., B.W., London.

Lack of Calcium in the body causes many different complaints. Regain your health by taking

KALZANA

The Calcium Food

At all Chemists
Made by the manufacturers of Sanalogen & Formamin

Characteristic signs of lack of calcium in the body are:

- ✓ Eczema
- ✓ Night sweats
- ✓ Inflammation of the Skin, caused through unhealthy blood.
- ✓ Nettlerash
- ✓ Colds of long duration
- ✓ Bleeding of the Nose and other forms of excessive bleeding.
- ✓ Loss of Hair
- ✓ Tooth decay in grown-ups and children.

These complaints show that your body is suffering from a lack of calcium. Kalzana will conquer your complaint by removing its cause (lack of calcium).

Note

Only in the scientific form of Kalzana—a combination of calcium lactate and sodium lactate—can you be sure that the calcium will be absorbed and retained by the body. Ordinary calcium administration is often useless—it must be Kalzana.

Before Baby comes

The expectant mother should be careful to remember that she must supply all the calcium needed to form her baby's bones and tissues. Kalzana gives all the extra calcium needed, and corrects any shortage in the mother's diet. It protects the mother against loss of hair, decay of the teeth, vomiting, general weakness and debility, whilst it also ensures her baby against any predisposition to rickets.

Preserve your own health, and safeguard your baby's by taking Kalzana in good time.

(Use it during the last six months of your pregnancy.)

Colony was established on Friday at Caroline Hill when Yung K Fong, competing at St. Paul's College sports, registered 23 feet 6 inches.

The jump, it is understood, is a record for China, but it is slightly below the performance in the U. S. East Olympiad.

The prize at the conclusion of the sports were presented by Mr. E. W. Martin.

The results follow:—

Chinese: 1, Chang Kung, 1, Lee Fong; 2, So Kun Ching; 3, Leo Ping Yu. Distance: 22ft. 6in. (record).

Small Boys Long Jump: 1, Peter So; 2, Kai Yee Lam; 3, Moung Kung. Distance: 14ft. 6in.

Senior: 100 Metres—1, So Kung Yu; 2, Yung K Fong; 3, Shum K.

ROBBERS' ROOST

THURSDAY'S FEATURE AT KING'S

Acclaimed as the foremost western actor on the screen to-day, a remarkable all-round athlete and one of the strongest men of his size and weight in pictures, an expert horseman and a championship boxer, George O'Brien is also the lucky possessor of an unusually winning personality.

It is this last quality that has had as much to do with his following among picture patrons as any of the others.

His infectious Irish smile is a certain indication of his talents at long range. Studio electricians and carpenters and prop boys join with executives and stars in unanimous admiration of this unassuming actor whose fan mail ranks with that of the industry's greatest stars.

No matter what the conditions, the O'Brien smile is always ready. Not long ago he was badly hurt during the final week of making a picture. But he went through his scenes for five days with yards of adhesive tape holding a fractured rib and a sprained back in place, rather than cause the company the delay and expense that would have been incurred had he taken to his bed. Despite the pain, he turned aside all solicitations as to his welfare with a cheery "I'm all right" and the customary smile.

This attitude explains why there is never any trouble in getting together a cast for an O'Brien picture. No matter how many other "outdoor" films may be in the making, the cream of the crack riders, ropers and gun experts in the movie colony is always available for his offerings. These men know the actor for what he is, and their eagerness to accept even an extra part in O'Brien's productions is a significant tribute.

The son of Dan O'Brien, for many years Chief of the San Francisco Police Department, George knows the West thoroughly. He was a prominent athlete in his high school days and later at Santa Clara College. By dint of constant exercise he developed an ability that enabled him to win the light-heavyweight championship of the Pacific Fleet at the age of 18.

Destined for a medical career, he refused many offers to become a professed fighter. But he subsequently abandoned the pursuit of medicine for that of screen honours, and single-handedly made his way to the top of his field in the motion picture world. His latest appearance is in "Robbers' Roost" the Fox Films feature coming to this Theatre on Thursday. Maureen O'Sullivan plays the feminine lead in this exciting tale of romance and rustlers, which was adapted from the Zane Grey novel of the same name.

SAY IT WITH MUSIC

JACK PAYNE'S BAND TO FIGURE

Masters of rhythm and syncope are described by the high-brow as musical savages who should be civilised by a compulsory course of Bach, Mozart, Wagner, and other great composers. This suggested remedy leaves lovers of syncope "cold," and they will welcome "Say It with Music" with Jack Payne and his band, which will open at the Central to-morrow.

For four years Jack Payne and his band were an exceedingly popular B.B.C. dance band combination, and the termination of their contract was regretted by countless thousands of listeners. This country holds the world pre-eminence for the quality of its dance band broadcasts, a position not only maintained, but the more firmly established by Jack Payne's band when it was the official B.B.C. organisation.

Jack Raymond directed the picture, the plan of which is not simply the presentation of the band but the narration of a very human drama, linking the fortunes of a down-and-out composer, who detested "jazz" in all its forms, with a great syncope production built upon the solid foundation of one of his own airs.

"Say It with Music" is singularly attractive entertainment giving a distinct as well as distinctive change of programme. It brings to the screen the breadth and quality of the concert platform, and demonstrates the ability of an efficient combination to secure finely musical effects, reproduced with amazing fidelity on the talking screen.

"WISE" GIRLS GET WHAT THEY WANT

"Three wise girls, sure of themselves, sure of what they wanted, sure of getting what they wanted." That, in the opinion of Walter Byron, sum up the personalities of Mae Clarke, Jean Harlow and Marie Prevost as they are presented in "The Three Wise Girls," the Columbia comedy drama showing on Thursday at the Queen's Theatre. And, Walter ought to know, because he happens to be the leading man in this sophisticated film adapted from "Blonde Baby" with dialogue by Robert Riskin. Walter Byron finally succumbs to the charms of the three girls, practiced by the alluring Jean Harlow.

Other members of the cast of "Three Wise Girls" include Jameson Thomas, Andy Devine, Natalie Moorhead and Lucy Beaumont. William Beaudine directed.

"STREET SCENE"

Story of a Cosmopolitan Back Street

SYLVIA SIDNEY'S FINE ACTING

There is much that is real and much that is moving in "Street Scene" which opened yesterday at the King's.

The story is told on the steps of a tenement house in New York. It is a story which might have happened in such a house in any cosmopolitan city in the world. In a house where people of different races, cultures and ideals are living together, united only by a common poverty.

The Maurrants are the chief subject of conversation when Italian, Jew, German, and American meet on the steps to that of the day's happenings. The Maurrants are Irish. The man is surly and suspicious, the wife lonely and hungry for "someone to talk to." The daughter is pretty and efficient, a stenographer-one, supposes, smartly dressed and with charming manners. The son is a hobbledeloy school boy. Mrs. Maurrant has found a friend in Mr. Sankay. Her neighbours make the most of the situation and of the fact that Sankay is a married man. Hints and whispers inflame Maurrant's jealousy. Then comes tragedy. Maurrant comes home unexpectedly to find Sankay with his wife, he shoots them both and is later captured by the police. The drama provides intense interest for all the inhabitants of the house.

Sylvia Sidney plays the girl "Rose" and sustains a difficult role admirably. She is always interesting to watch and never lets the temptation to be over-dramatic and cheap spoil her playing of the natural, sweet-natured girl.

William Collier, Jr., is the young Jewish boy in love with Rose, and keeps in key with her all through. The minor parts on which the film largely depends are splendid. Every character stands out as an individual.

The picture is admirably produced and directed, and is one which you should certainly see. E.M.B.

MR. R. E. CULLEN

Popular N.A.A.F.I. Manager Departs

Severing a connection with the Far East which began six years ago, Mr. R. E. Cullen, Branch Manager of the Navy, Army and Air Force Institute in Hong Kong, sailed for Home on the s.s. Ranpura on Saturday. Mr. Cullen was first sent out East by the London office in January, 1927, and went to Shanghai to take up the position of Manager. Later he was transferred to the Tientsin Branch, in a similar capacity, and not long afterwards was ordered to Hong Kong.

During his stay in the Colony he resided in Army quarters both in Kowloon and Hong Kong and gained a large circle of friends on both sides of the Harbour. Latterly, he had been living at Wellington Barracks. Mr. Cullen was a keen billiards player and a tournament in his honour was played at the Palace Hotel, Kowloon, a few nights ago, being attended by a number of his intimate friends and acquaintances of the Services.

So popular has he been amongst the Hong Kong staff of the N.A.A.F.I., that they have sent a request to the London Office, asking that he return to this Colony when his period of Home leave has expired. So far no successor to Mr. Cullen has been appointed, but Mr. A. Hill, who arrived in the Colony only a few months ago, will be Acting Manager.

HAT TRICK BY INDIAN R.C.'S FAST
BOWLER: OMAR KNOCKS UP
57 FOR WINNER

CRAIGENGOWER DRAW ON INDIAN'S
GROUND

The winners of the first and second league were opposed on Saturday to sides selected from the rest of the Clubs competing in the cricket league during the year.

The University, playing on their own ground, were overwhelmed by a very strong team which was put up against them, the feature of the game being the "hat trick" by F. D. Pereira, the
I.R.C. bowler.

U. M. Omar and G. O. Burnett put up a stubborn ninth wicket partnership for "The Rest" with the result the visitors made 170 for 8 wickets before declaring. Faced with the cream of the Colony's bowling talent, the "Varsity" could only gather 67 in reply.

In the second division game, played on the Indian R.C.'s ground the Champions Craigenower were able to force a draw.

The annual match between Taikoo and Wayfoong, played on the H.K.C.C. ground proved a one-sided affair and provided an easy win for Taikoo.

LAW AND COMMERCE

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL DINNER ON SATURDAY NIGHT

INTERESTING TALK ON AMERICAN BANKING SYSTEM BY MR. M. A. COOPER

A very representative gathering of both branches of the legal profession together with several leading business men were present at the annual dinner of the Law and Commerce Society of the Hong Kong University which was held at Lane Crawford's Restaurant on Saturday night.

Among those present were the Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C., Hon. Dr. S. W. Tse, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, Mr. H. C. Macnamara, Professor and Mrs. R. K. M. Simpson, Professor O. A. Middleton Smith, Mr. M. K. Lo, Mr. Hin Shing Lo, Mr. Wong Kwong Tin, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Handyside.

After the toast of "The King" and "The Republic of China," the Chairman of the Society, Mr. Soo Chong Hee, proposed the toast of "Our Guests," Mr. H. C. Macnamara replying.

The toast of "The Society" was proposed by the Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster and Mr. M. A. Cooper, President of the Society replying to the toast gave an interesting talk on the economic situation to-day, with particular reference to the banking system in America.

"MAGNETIC ATTRACTION OF LAW AND COMMERCE"

CORDIAL WELCOME TO GUESTS

In welcoming the guests, Mr. Soo Chong Hee, said:—Ladies and Gentlemen,—It has been the custom of the Chairman of our Society to deliver himself eloquently by proposing the toast of our guests. Being conscious of a feeling of trepidation, I am afraid that I may not be able to uphold this customary practice which has been established for many years.

Our society is founded to give its members an opportunity to establish contact with men whose professions are legal and commercial, and to promote frequent association between the past and present students of Social Science and Commerce of the University of Hong Kong. The occasion of our Annual Dinner to-night affords us a golden opportunity to realise our aim. The happy expression which I notice in the faces of my follow members bear testimony to the pleasure derived from the presence of a distinguished gathering of prominent citizens of the Colony.

Our Society is honoured by the presence of the Attorney General, the Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster. The position which he is holding is one of dignity and honour, but the demands on his mental and physical energy are so incessant that one cannot help feeling that the sacrifice he makes by coming here to address us is a very great one. Socially and officially we regard him with goodwill and respect.

I am delighted to have the pleasure of the company of the Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Wong Kwong Tin. He is one of the most prominent members in the world of commerce. It is scarcely necessary for me to assure him of the esteem in which he is held. He is one of our Hon. Vice-Presidents this year besides being a member of the Court of the University.

Meanwhile, I must proffer a vote of thanks to all the Ladies and Gentlemen who have accepted our invitations. That they should give up a whole evening to us is a compliment which we appreciate. To the ladies we are greatly indebted for their ever-charming manners and the homely atmosphere with which they make this occasion so unique and successful. In connection with the arrangements of this function, the name of our energetic Hon. Secretary, Mr. Kwik Khik Tjhiang is worthy of special mention. It is due to his untiring efforts that he accomplishes his work so admirably.

Hitherto, I have omitted to mention a man who has achieved great distinction in the legal profession and who has established close friendship with the University and the students of Social Science and Commerce. But I wish you to understand that I have especially reserved his name so that I may give you the toast of our Guest coupled with the name of Mr. H. C. Macnamara. To his wisdom and geniality, Mr. H. C. Macnamara adds a courtesy which is appreciated by all of us here. In Court he has gained popularity and in the lecture room he has inspired the students of Jurisprudence by his ability. He is not only well versed in doctrines of law but also in English poetry for your remember that some time ago he delivered a lecture on "English Light Verse" before the English Association.

I shall detain you no longer, but I shall ask the members of the Society to drink cordially with me the toast of the good health of our guests.

MR. MACNAMARA REPLIES

Replying on behalf of the guests, Mr. Macnamara said: We have come here this evening on the invitation of this Society and glancing around the room I see many representatives of the legal profession in both its branches and of representatives of commerce as well as the deans of the various faculties of the University and other gentlemen who are more connected with the University in a way, which I, as only an outside lecturer, cannot possibly hope to do. I wish the task of replying had fallen to somebody more qualified than myself, for example, my old friend and antagonist in the Law Courts, Mr. M. K. Lo. Many are the cheerful scraps we have had together in the Courts and from personal experience of his oratorical powers I know he will be a much better person than myself.

Professor Simpson: No, No. Mr. Macnamara: Or the task could have fallen on the shoulders of Professor Simpson (Laughter).

Continuing Mr. Macnamara said: What is it that draws everyone here? What magnetic quality draws the Hon. Attorney General here and the Hon. Dr. S. W. Tse and the rest of us? Why do we all come here? It is because of the magnetic attraction of the Society of Law and Commerce—what more powerful factors of the human Society can you get together? Compared with that magnetism, medicine, engineering, the arts, etc., are insignificant lines (Loud laughter). In their own way, law and commerce are both important things and when you get them together, it is something terrific.

What would law be without commerce and what would commerce be without law? First as to law without commerce. If you look through pages of your law reports, you will find very few cases that are not connected with commerce in one form or another. If you take commercial cases out of the law reports altogether what would you get left? As a Scottish judge once remarked, the only cases which came into his court were disputes between first cousins and neighbours in the country.

What would be the plight of commerce without law? A state of continual strife. (Loud laughter). People would fight each other with rulers in the office. Disputes over non-delivery of goods would be settled out in the streets. Taipans will be "bumped off" in street corners without regard for human life (Laughter).

The conclusion we must come to is that law and commerce must work in alliance and one cannot work without the other. I think that commercial men will agree that the law is very far from being perfect. The last question I have left to myself is, Can we make the law a little more perfect?

It is in a society like that that lawyers may hear the active criticism of commercial men. Mild criticism is good for us, especially the criticism of commercial men. I think a society of this kind, combining as it does, gentlemen interested in law and commerce

APPOINTMENTS

MR. P. JACKS JUDGE OF FULL COURT

Among appointments announced in the Government Gazette are the following:—

Mr. Vandeleur Molyneux Grayburn and Mr. Phillip Stanley Cassidy to be members of the Court of the University of Hong Kong for a further period of three years.

Mr. Phillip Jacks, a Puisne Judge, for the purposes of the Full Court Ordinance, in relation to any appeals now pending.

Lieut. Basil Lawrence Edward Hebert, R.A., has been appointed an Honorary A.D.C. to His Excellency the Governor.

Mr. Graham Scudamore Percival Heywood has been appointed Assistant Director of the Royal Observatory during the absence on leave of Mr. Benjamin Davies Evans.

Mr. Francis Balfour has been appointed District Officer in the Southern District of the New Territories, in addition to his other duties.

Mr. John Archibald Plummer, J.P., to be a member of the Licensing Board for a further period of three years.

Dr. Agnes Lillias Jenkins Dovey has been appointed a member of the Midwives Board in place of Dr. Ariel Ramsford Stewart Deacon McElney who has resigned.

cannot fail to do good because the criticism of lawyers and commercial men is undoubtedly valuable and I think I am voicing the opinion of all those present when I say that we much appreciate the hospitality which has been extended to us.

The toast of "The Society" was proposed by the Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, who said:—It is pleasing to note that this society which was founded to give students of Law and Commerce in our University a wider opportunity to establish contact with men whose professions are legal and commercial; to promote frequent association of graduate and undergraduate members; and to develop the organising and debating abilities of the student body; has adopted a title in which Law and Commerce are so honourably linked.

Commerce itself in its more ample sense denotes social intercourse rather than the exchange of merchandise. For some years before my official duties made it impossible for me to continue as such, it was my privilege to act as external examiner in Commercial Law and Jurisprudence at your University. I trust that all the students whose papers I then read have continued their interest in these subjects after graduation by joining the Society and by participating in its lectures and debates. If there are any of them who have failed to do so, I strongly urge them to repair the omissions forthwith because the full development of the Society can be secured only with the full co-operation of the graduate body. Those who still have to graduate will also benefit by taking up legal and commercial studies and by joining the Society.

Time was when jurists were eyed askance in China; but those times have passed and China now offers an ever-widening field for those whose knowledge of substantive laws, of commerce and of policies is founded on a study of the principles of fairness and justice on which all substantive laws, commerce and policy should be based.

As a University you have just come of age. It was my privilege as acting Attorney General in 1911-12 to be an ex-officio member of your University Court at the time of your foundation, and I deemed it an honour to find myself again an ex-officio member of your Court this year on your twenty-first anniversary, an occasion which you marked by conferring the degree of Doctor of Laws, the highest honorary degree it was in your power to bestow, on the five distinguished personages whom your University delighted to honour. I trust the day will not be far distant when circumstances will permit you to establish in the University a Faculty of Laws in which the academic study of jurisprudence and legal principles is given the scope and opportunity it so richly deserves. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Alabaster then called on the company to drink the health and prosperity of the Society.

MR. M. A. COOPER

Replying, Mr. M. A. Cooper, president of the Society, said: In replying to the toast of the Society it has become the custom for the President not to confine his remarks to Society activities but to deliver a message to its student members. Our students may remember that on the occasion of the last dinner, Professor Robertson strongly urged them not to be misled by the flood of loose opinion which was being offered on current economic and political questions. The need for that advice is as great to-day as it was a year ago, and I make no apology for reminding

AERIAL SURVEY

YEARS of experience now provide evidence of the superiority of the air-borne camera over all methods of ground survey. It is far less expensive than is the employment of ground expeditions, and it is incomparably speedier. This latter is of the greatest importance, for it means that territory can be opened up to commercial enterprise at an earlier date, with consequent advantage both to the immigrant and to the inhabitants of the region concerned.

The bulk of the aerial survey work done in the British Empire with the exception of Canada, which has a Government aerial survey organisation—is carried out by two British companies—"The Aircraft Operating Company" and "The Air Survey Company." Up to the present time, these two companies have made photographic and reconnaissance surveys of regions in Africa, India, Burma, Iraq and Latin-America, covering a total area of 200,000 square miles. All this work has been done without any official financial support in the way of subsidies. In Canada, where exceptionally quick and simple methods of air photography may be employed because of the flatness of most of the territory surveyed, approximately 400,000 square miles have been mapped from the air.

The most informative method—and indeed the most essential in all-but flat country—is that by which all photographs are taken as near the vertical as possible, thus providing a true vertical map of the ground flown over. According to the scale required and the lens used in the camera, photographs are taken from a height of from ten to fifteen thousand feet. Successive photographs are arranged so as to overlap each other "fore and aft" to the extent of from fifty to sixty per cent., and laterally by about twenty per cent. This overlap enables that part of the area common to two photographs to be examined in a stereoscope, which shows the ground standing out in perspective and affords the observer a most excellent means of viewing details of ground formation.

Vertical mapping is employed when the scale sought is up to one in 50,000, and it is essential in many kinds of aerial work, such as for oil pipeline construction. The alternative method, by oblique photography, is feasible when the territory is relatively flat and small scale maps are sufficient. The oblique photograph is easy to read, as it provides a view similar to that obtained from a high hill. In addition to much of the Canadian survey, several other large areas have been mapped in this way notably an area of 65,000 square miles in Northern Rhodesia, which were charted by one survey aeroplane in less than three months.

Accurate flying is absolutely essential. The aeroplane must be maintained in flight at constant height and speed and kept in perfect trim. The course must be followed without any deviation—and here gyroscopic control of the kind afforded by a remarkable British device known as the "automatic pilot" has given excellent results. The weather plays a most important part, for clear skies are essential if good, clear pictures are to be obtained. Given good weather and good organisation, a few hours' flying may provide enough material for several months of mapping work on the ground. The Northern Rhodesian area was photographed in fifty flying hours, leaving the aeroplane free for other work, but the rest of the work on the ground took fifteen months to complete.

Obviously the larger the area surveyed the less, relatively, is the cost likely to be. The Northern Rhodesian survey, which took only eighteen months to complete, cost only one pound a square mile, though the company had to do all the work, including the making of the maps. A comparative figure for the cost of a ground survey in such a region cannot be given; but there is no doubt that ground methods would have rendered any estimate prohibitive, both in time and cost. It is reported that negotiations are taking place with a view to the adoption of a comprehensive scheme for the aerial mapping of the whole British Empire—four-fifths of which are at present inadequately charted—and enthusiasts declare that the survey aeroplane is the only practical vehicle for surveyor, cartographer, and engineer.

Many different types of British aeroplanes are employed on aerial survey, ranging from modified 1,000 "horse-power" twin-engine biplanes, specially designed for the work, to the sphere of activity of the British designers again leads to the first real survey aeroplane in the world was built in a British factory and was employed successfully on the big Northern Rhodesian survey.

In national finances there is a similar distinction. The countries still using gold at the beginning of the year were all facing budget deficits. In the United States the Government was struggling against a deficit of more than 1,100 million dollars, while France was attempting to cover a shortage of 10½ million francs. Holland, Switzerland, Italy and Belgium were all up against difficulties of a similar nature. Britain may find a certain amount of comfort in the relatively favourable position of their own country during the past year, but there can be less satisfaction with one cause of that position: the continued advance of certain countries to the gold standard.

Blast of Depression. The rise in commodity prices is still to come in every country—prosperity for both gold standard and non-gold standard countries has not yet peeped from around its corner. Yet the interesting feature of the present situation is that the rise in commodity prices is now most marked for countries on the gold standard, since it is they which are feeling the blast of depression most keenly. During 1932, the value of the gold standard countries' exports fell by 10 per cent., while the value of the non-gold standard countries' exports fell by 20 per cent. The gold standard countries' exports were 10 per cent. higher than in 1931, while the non-gold standard countries' exports were 20 per cent. higher than in 1931.

you of Professor Robertson's words. Enthusiasm for a cause or for an argument is a natural and admirable characteristic in young men and women, and one which we, who are young, respect in those who are a good deal older than ourselves. It is partly for this characteristic that Mr. Shaw was rightly appreciated when he came to address our student body. There is no danger in enthusiasm: the danger lies in not being enthusiastic about anything at all or in enthusing without sufficient cause. And I feel that to-day, the second danger is a very real one against which students in economics particularly must guard.

I grant that most students must feel an intense disappointment with text-books which seem to give little help in interpreting existing conditions and may feel strongly tempted to neglect them for the more interesting and apparently more useful popular pamphlet or article or book specifically written on some current topic. But to beginners, I think this course is wrong. In spite of the doubts cast by some modern writers on the validity of the principles enunciated in text-books on economics, I still believe them to be broadly true, our economic organisation or disorganisation, whichever word we care to choose, being what it is. And for this reason I believe that they constitute an essential weapon for attacking any economic problem and should be studied before anything else.

What is of importance to the student of economics is that in the welter of chaos, attempts have been made and are being made particularly in the field of currency management to bring about improvement. The lack of relatively quick decision which has characterised United States financial policy in the last few weeks is some indication of the doubt of the value of alternative policies among "experts." They feel that they are experimenting, as the British Government must also feel, and I consider it of greater value to the student, whose time is limited, to follow the history of these experiments in the data available than to spend his time reading up plans for economic salvation which have too often a flimsy connexion with practice.

Flight from Gold.

The commercial history of the past year, one is obliged to admit, has been almost as disappointing as that of the year before. It has been a history of difficulties which experiments have partly met but have not solved. By far the most important device operating to stop the rot has been the flight from gold by countries imitating Great Britain's example of September 1931. A comparison of trade returns for 1932 shows definitely that while, generally speaking, the rate of trade decline has been stemmed among countries departing from gold, the position of gold standard countries has become worse. To borrow a phrase from the Board of Trade analysis "the countries no longer on the gold standard increased their share of the import and export trade of the world—this increase applying to exports to a greater degree than imports."

More particularly the decline in the value of imports into the United Kingdom in 1932 by the best available measure was 18 per cent., compared with an average decline for all countries of 25 per cent. As regards exports of domestic produce, the United Kingdom showed a decline of 6½ per cent. as compared with an average decline for all countries of 25 per cent. Comparing the position of the United Kingdom with that of the United States, we find a decline in United States imports of 27 per cent., as against our own 18 per cent., and a decline in their exports of domestic produce of 34 per cent., as against our own 6½ per cent.

In national finances there is a similar distinction. The countries still using gold at the beginning of the year were all facing budget deficits. In the United States the Government was struggling against a deficit of more than 1,100 million dollars, while France was attempting to cover a shortage of 10½ million francs. Holland, Switzerland, Italy and Belgium were all up against difficulties of a similar nature. Britain may find a certain amount of comfort in the relatively favourable position of their own country during the past year, but there can be less satisfaction with one cause of that position: the continued advance of certain countries to the gold standard.

Blast of Depression.

The rise in commodity prices is still to come in every country—prosperity for both gold standard and non-gold standard countries has not yet peeped from around its corner. Yet the interesting feature of the present situation is that the rise in commodity prices is now most marked for countries on the gold standard, since it is they which are feeling the blast of depression most keenly. During 1932, the value of the gold standard countries' exports fell by 10 per cent., while the value of the non-gold standard countries' exports fell by 20 per cent. The gold standard countries' exports were 10 per cent. higher than in 1931, while the non-gold standard countries' exports were 20 per cent. higher than in 1931.

the purchasing power of gold continued to rise. The United States is now having to face a most unpleasant situation, and however much one must sympathise with the mass of her people one cannot but feel that America's monetary and banking policy has been misguided. From the War Years, America emerged as a great creditor nation, with the right to demand gold of her debtors. She could have chosen to take goods but preferred to maintain a high tariff wall to prevent her debtors from discharging their obligations in the way which was easiest to them. She might have embarked on a serious long-term trading policy abroad, but elected not to do so. She asked for gold and got it. But having received it she refused or could not allow it to exercise its normal effect on prices. A large part of the gold remained to all intents and purposes buried. Her own action has contributed to forcing some of her debtors off the gold standard, and her position has become worse, partly because those debtors benefited via a via America by departing from gold, partly because America has not yet discovered the secret of managing her own gold currency properly.

Banks Affected.

With a currency that has been steadily depreciating in value the Federal Government has found the real value of its Budget charges also steadily increasing, yet the unfortunate taxpayer is finding it increasingly difficult to yield more in taxes. The Banks, like the Government, have, we know, been seriously affected. To hear of one commercial bank after another having to put up its shutters during the early part of this year must have sounded to our maiden aunts very much as though the end of the world was at hand. It was too awful to think of. I would prefer to feel that the end of the world is approaching than America decides to allow branch banking on a similar scale to Great Britain and compels the adherence of these banks to the Federal Reserve System. Many American Banks, like banks in practically every country, have found that falling prosperity and investment values have left a large volume of old loans without adequate security. According to the economist of the National City Bank of N.Y., even where banks have abstained from making excessive long-term loans and "an adequate percentage of well-secured loans of short maturity was held many borrowers have been unable to make their payments promptly, leaving no choice other than to extend their loans or to collect them with the inevitable consequences of bankruptcies, foreclosures or sacrifice sales of collateral."

Panic Born of Mistrust.

A "frozen" condition of bank credit exists in many localities the term signifying that an undue proportion of the assets of the banks cannot be converted into cash without forced sale and severe losses. If banks in such a condition are subject to the impact of a panicky demand by depositors for repayment of their funds, to panic born of mistrust in the solvency of the banks, shutters may have to go up. The extent to which commercial banks will actually have to close their doors naturally depends on the strength of commercial banking organisation and the speed and extent to which the Federal Reserve Banks—the central banks of America corresponding to our own Bank of England—are able to lend assistance. I believe that large-scale branch banking as is practised in Great Britain lends tremendous strength to any commercial banking system. It brings about a compounding of lending risks and a mobility of credit which are invaluable. But the general attitude towards branch banking in the United States is one of hostility. ## OBITUARY

"CHINA'S GOD OF WEALTH"

EX-PREMIER LIANG SHIH YI

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Apr. 9.

THE death occurred to-day from heart failure of China's "God of wealth," ex-Premier Liang Shih Yi aged sixty-five. He is survived by seven wives and seven children. He was regarded as the pioneer of railway development in China and leader of the well-known Chiao-tung clique in the old Peking regime.

ity and public opinion tends to oppose its extension.

Just a few years ago there were in England nearly 8,000 branches, the vast majority of which belonged to the Big Five commercial Banks. In the United States about the same time there were some 28,000 banks, 690 of which had 2,200 branches. Compared with the position in England, the amount of branch banking in America was insignificant. There were far too many small independent banks whose welfare was closely bound up with the welfare of trade, agriculture or industry in a comparative small area. In 17 States, branch banking was positively prohibited by State law and in various others it was so restricted as to be useless from the main economic viewpoint. The opposition to branch banking seems to arise from the fear of money trusts, the fear of a system of "absentee proprietorship" which does not take local conditions sufficiently into consideration, and naturally from vested interests.

National Legislation.

The future of branch banking in America will be determined primarily by the way the present conflict between the existing laws of the 48 States and of the Federal Government will culminate. When the Federal Government becomes more strongly intent on remedying the situation by national legislation offering wider opportunities to branch banks.

With regard to the strength of central banking in America we must bear in mind first that the Federal Reserve System is only 20 years old, and second, that only the minority of commercial banks are compelled to join. The Bank of England was operating before America won her independence, and though there is no legal compulsion on British commercial banks to patronise or work in harmony with the Bank of England, and in one sense is made easier by the small number of commercial banks existing. But in view of the Federal Reserve Banks and commercial banks in normal times, I think that the Federal Reserve Banks and the Government, which has assisted them by legislation deserve considerable praise for courageous efforts to meet the recent banking difficulties. By the end of January last, for example, the new Reconstruction Finance Corporation had loaned $900,000,000 to banks in difficulties. Since that time the strain became so great that banking tormenta were imperative. What does strike one as being so deplorable is the seeming lack of general policy which would avoid such difficulties. That serious legislation on the question of branch banking is long overdue I do not think there is much doubt. Neither can I see any serious reason for adhering to the gold standard. But whatever happens in either of these directions, it will be interesting to trace what happens to the American price level if the relations have their way. (Applause).

SITUATION IN EUROPE

GERMANY AND RUSSIA CRITICISED

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, April 8. SIR AUSTIN CHAMBERLAIN, in a speech at Birmingham, last night, referring to the Moscow arrests, said he hoped the strong feeling expressed during the debate in the Commons had brought home to the Soviet Government the condition on which alone it was possible to maintain friendly relations, or to contribute to their prosperity and development as well as our own.

Alluding to the situation in Germany he said the utterances of men in authority there revealed a spirit which we hoped had departed from the world.

He asked the German Government to consider the impression which their attitude must give to the world. Germany, he added, met her fate because in overwhelming pride and egotistic vanity she was not willing to allow other people to live as they wished and was determined to dominate and impose her will on rest of world. They saw again kindling in her internal affairs the same spirit and at the moment when at the Disarmament Conference Germany was asking for equality of rights and of status, and other powers had expressed their willingness to grant her that equality of status.

Referring to the demand for treaty revision he said, "Before you can revise those treaties you must be quite certain that the dominating spirit has departed from Germany. Before we can return to their level of armaments we must be sure that they seek equality for their own security and to maintain peace and not to threaten the security of other nations."

THE MOSCOW ARRESTS

BRITISHERS SELECT COUNSEL

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, April 8. FIVE of the six accused Englishmen in Moscow met the president of Collegium of Defenders yesterday and provisionally selected counsel to conduct their defence in their trial on various charges of sabotage and espionage which is fixed to open on 12th.

Komados was appointed as counsel for Monkhous. Braude for Thornton. Lidov for Cushty, and Dolmatovski for Nordwall and Gregory.

The sixth Englishman, MacDonald, is still in custody but counsel has not yet been allotted to him. The British Chargé d'Affaires, Mr. Strong has arranged to visit Mr. MacDonald this evening.

WARM WEATHER IN ENGLAND

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, April 8. THE exceptional spell of warm sunny weather which has been almost unbroken in Southern England since March 21st continues. ## SHIELD COMPETITIONS DECIDED: BORDERERS BEATEN IN BOTH

WINS FOR SOUTH CHINA AND THE ROYAL NAVY

The Senior and Junior teams of the South Wales Borderers were both beaten in the finals of the Shield competitions on Saturday, the former losing to South China by three goals to one, and the latter to the Royal Navy by the odd goal in three. In the Senior game, the play did not reach a high standard, and a rather unpleasant incident occurred in the later stages when a South China player was ordered off the field for rough play. At the conclusion of the match, Mrs. W. T. Southern gave away the prizes.

The Junior final produced a much keener and harder struggle than the Senior, and it was not until the last minute of the game that the result was decided when the Navy was awarded a penalty.

Three matches were played in the First Division of the League. The Royal Artillery, after a series of reverses, beat the Chinese Athletic by four goals to one, while the Lincolns were surprisingly held to a goalless draw by Kowloon at Sookunpoo. The Club de Recreo, which beat the South China by two goals to one the previous week, were defeated by the Police by four goals to one at King's Park. (A full account of the last two matches will be found in our Kowloon Supplement).

By defeating the Royal Engineers in the Third Division, the Lincolns have assured themselves of the honour of being runners-up of that division, while the University registered the biggest surprise of the day when they beat the Royal Air Force.

Senior Final

S. CHINA v. BORDERERS

A large crowd turned up to see this match which was played on the Club ground, but the play might have reached a better standard in a final between two teams of such well-known capabilities. All the best football was seen in the first half, the Borderers cracking up badly in the second when they were only one goal behind. As a matter of fact they kept up the form shown in the first half, the result might have been different. They had the greater part of the game in the first half, being on the offensive most of the time, but when Wong Mee Shun, the South China captain, scored a goal towards the interval, they seemed to lose heart and played poor football.

The Borderers were the first to attack, but Matthias shot wide. The Chinese then took up the attack, and a great chance was missed when Cheng centred for the other forwards to miss completely in a sum. Play was then fairly even until after about its minutes South China took the lead in an amazing manner. Cheng centred from the wing, and Williams, the Borderers' goalkeeper, in catching the ball, allowed it to go over his hands into the net.

Denis, this reverse, the Borderers attacked continuously, and Fortey had hard luck in failing to score. Immediately afterwards, however, Jones equalised with a brilliant header from a pass by Matthias.

The Borderers continued to press, and the Chinese goalkeeper had a lot of work to do to keep the soldiers from scoring. The Chinese finally broke away, and Williams was injured in diving at the feet of Wong to save an almost certain goal. They managed to force a corner, however, and from the spot-kick, Wong sent in a shot which entered the top corner of the net, thus regaining the lead for the Chinese. Shortly afterwards the interval arrived with the Chinese leading by two goals to one.

Immediately after the resumption, the Borderers nearly equalised, Duncan shot wildly with only the goalkeeper to beat. Soon afterwards Jones also had a good chance to level the scores, but he too shot over.

From then on, nothing much was seen of the Borderers, the Chinese dominated play throughout. The ball was continuously in the Borderers' half, but the Chinese missed many opportunities to score. It must be said also that Williams played a great game at this stage, and was mostly responsible for the frustration of the Chinese attempts. Ten minutes before the end, however, the Borderers made a desperate effort to save the game, and came very near to success when the Chinese goalkeeper had to dive full length to save from a nice shot by Jones. At this stage, Tam Kong Pak, the Chinese right back, was ordered off the field for rough play against W. Harris.

Just on time, the Chinese took up the attack, and Ip Pak Wah, after a brilliant solo effort, beat Williams with a well placed shot.

Referee: R. P. O. Darlington.

South China:—Lim Thin Chan; Tam Kong Pak and Lau Mau; Tong Kwan; Leung Wing Chui and Leung In Chan; Cheng Shui Hong, Wong Mee Shun, Fung King Cheong, Yeung Tat Wing and Ip Pak Wah.

Borderers:—Williams; Mullane and Morrison; W. Harris Podmore and Underwood; L. Harris, Matthias, Fortey, Jones and Duncan.

JUNIOR FINAL

BORDERERS v. NAVY

In this match, the Borderers had hard luck in losing to the Navy by two goals to one. Play was much more even than in the Senior game, and it was not until the last minute that the result was decided when the sailors were awarded a penalty.

The sailors were on the attack from the start, and Brookes had hard luck in not scoring when his shot struck the bar. Ten minutes afterwards, however, the sailors took the lead through Rawson. The Borderers rallied but Hamlyn shot weakly past the post when in a good position. Play was then mostly in midfield, until towards the interval when Morris equalised for the Borderers.

After the interval play became pretty fast, both goals being visited in turn and having narrow escapes. In one of the "meles" in front of the goal, the sailors were awarded a penalty for handling, but son who took the spot kick. However, at this stage, the sailors had the better of attack, and towards the end, they were again awarded a penalty for the same offence. Murrell, who took the spot kick, made no mistake this time, and the Borderers were going to restart the play when the final whistle blew.

Borderers:—Smith; Suter and Recco; Court, Roberts and Wallace; Marshfield, Hayes, Hamlyn, Morris and Hazzelwood.

Navy:—Longley; Blair and Powell; Turner, Henshaw and Ash-

MAMAK TOURNAMENT

By defeating the 20th Battery by three goals to one on the U.S.R.O. ground, the Incognitos have enhanced their chances of winning the Mamak Hockey Tournament. The winners were superior throughout and led by two goals to one in the first half.

After the interval the Gunners improved considerably, but their teamwork robbed them of many chances to score. R. G. Reed, A. M. Xavier and J. M. Pinto scored for the Incogs, and C. Hopkins netted the only goal for the Gunners.

Kowloon Supplement

HONG KONG, APRIL 10, 1933.

SENTIMENT

Anyone who has visited the Shing Mun Valley, where the new dam is being built, will have been struck by the vast area that has been conserved for the scheme. Over four square miles of hill and dale, sloping down to the largest stream in the Colony, have been taken over by the Government to ensure an adequate water supply for the population of Hong Kong and Kowloon. As far as the eye can see this great dam stretches, its furthest rim forming the horizon, with cloud-fringed Tai Mo Shan frowning on its left as you look north-east. Two years ago this valley was a populous region. Villages and hamlets clustered in its glens and hollows, and from the distance smoke from wood fires could be seen curling from the roofs and voices heard echoing from the hills. Every acre of cultivable land was ploughed and sowed, and rich rice harvests were reaped twice in the year. One village, the largest of them all, boasted a mellowed granite bridge and a temple decorated at the entrance with glazed dragons and the effigy of the God of Fertility. Here the village elders and the oldest inhabitant would sit in the late afternoon sunlight and gossip on the affairs of their tiny world. It was a real bit of China, this village, such as you might see to-day in the far interior. In that peaceful valley, shut off from roads and towns by the high green walls, it was hard to believe that an hour's drive away were talking cinema, cafes, cabarets, motor buses and all the paraphernalia of progress. The Shing Mun ran its placid course under the old bridge, so crystal clear that one could see the colour of the stones in its sandy bed and watch the minnows darting like black streaks among the reeds. The happy laughter of children echoed from behind the mud walls, or in the vale as they paddled in the cool stream, jam jar in hand, very like the boys in any village in England. This small community, aggregating perhaps one hundred souls, was like a loyal and self-supporting family. Its members were born, they lived, married and died within the shadow of its low walls, seldom venturing forth unless to visit the market with their vegetables and farm produce, or to buy the things they could not produce themselves. True, this community lacked many of the advantages of a modern town. It had no school, its sanitary arrangements were as primitive as they could be; the people were superstitious and worshipped strange gods. Yet here they found sorrow and joy and were, we may presume, as contented as human beings can be who live in peace and order and earn their rice by the sweat of their brow. Their administration, simple as it was, was perfect in its way; authority was vested in the elders whose decrees were obeyed with a beautiful loyalty. Then came the avalanche of progress, sweeping away the ancient roofs and walls, scattering temples and shops to the dust. The thirst of a great town had ended a sylvan dream of centuries, and the river, harnessed by pipes and concrete troughs, died as a thing of beauty to become a source of utility and power. Then began that tiny migration of sorrowing peoples which shall find no place in history. They had to find new homes, leaving behind them the only ones they could ever be real to them. In two years they may have buried past memories and begun without remembrance their life in strange surroundings, and among foreign plans. Yet, looking at that

A VISIT TO SHANHAIKWAN

KOWLOON RESIDENT'S INTERESTING EXPERIENCE

Shanhaikwan, situated in Jehol Province and facing the Gulf of Liaotung, has become world-famous through the action of Japanese troops in invading the territory adjoining the Great Wall. Previously little known to few other than those familiar with the North of China, Shanhaikwan has now gained a permanent place on the map, and in history, as the site where hundreds of gallant Chinese soldiers fell in defence of their country. If for this reason alone, readers will be interested in the delightful description of Shanhaikwan by a lady resident of Kowloon, who prefers to remain anonymous. The article appeared in the April issue of St. Andrew's Church Magazine and is entitled, "A Visit to Grove Temple, Shanhaikwan." The writer says—

"We paid another visit to Shanhaikwan city later, this time to go to the Grove Temple which is built on the highest peak of the range near the city. As we passed through the station to get to the entrance of the city, we saw a train which had been ambushed just outside the Wall. It was badly damaged and I think many people were injured. This sight saddened us and we were rather subdued for a little while after this. By the way, Shanhaikwan is the last station on Chinese territory.

"We mounted donkeys at the city gates and passed through in single file.

"It was great fun as some of us had never been on donkeys before. It struck me as being rather funny to see most of us away from side to side, threatening to come off at the least hump in the road, and those of you who know China at all can sympathise. I did wish we could have had a Pathe film of those first few minutes; I am quite sure that we should have provided the World with some of the laughter that it so sorely needs to-day. I am sure that the people in the streets enjoyed the joke as much as I did, especially when I needed the help of a telegraph pole to keep my balance. I did thank God for the gift of laughter that day.

"We had made a very early start in order to miss the full heat of the sun, but by the time we had reached the foothills it was very hot. These hills were about an hour's ride from the city, and so some of us felt that it would be better to dismount. Three of us decided to explore the valleys and then went our way up to the Temple. We were fortunate enough to find a wonderful collection of flora and felt rewarded for our trouble. The rest of the party had long reached the Temple by the time we arrived and were enjoying a rest and cool drinks.

"The Temple was dedicated to Kwan Ti, the Chinese god of War. He is not a cruel tyrant delighting in the battle and the slaying of enemies, he is the god who can avert war and protect the people from its horrors.

"I spent little time here—and soon found my way to the panorama of the surrounding country.

"All this time an aeroplane had been hovering around us and we heard afterwards that it had bombed a village not far away from where we were—all this amidst such peacefulness!

"The descent from the hills was very much more rapid and we soon found ourselves on our donkeys again on the way home. We decided to go outside the Wall in spite of the warnings we had received regarding bandits and other dangers. We realised afterwards that we might have caused international complications if anything had happened to us; fortunately we were quite safe. I am glad that we went outside the Wall as it gave us a glimpse of the fertile land of Manchuria and also a splendid view of the Great Wall where it links up with the city wall of Shanhaikwan.

"My thoughts as we passed outside the massive structure, were of another City Wall and what it meant to be outside it. Strangely enough, another of the party had similar thoughts and so we paused awhile.

"The scenery outside the wall surpasses that on the inner side, while the crops seem to be more beautiful, although I could see no reason why there should be such a marked difference. We reached the miniature railway all too quickly and so ended our trip to the Grove Temple. It was very refreshing to get away up in the hills even if only for a few hours."

LUGGAGE SERVICE

Delivering Goods by Lorry

A greater convenience in moving from Kowloon to Hong Kong, and vice versa, will be one of the many benefits of the baggage and transfer service which was recently inaugurated by the China Provident Loan and Mortgage Co., Ltd., which is the first company to operate an organised motor transport in Hong Kong with its own fleet of trucks.

In an interview with a Daily Press representative yesterday, Mr. Dudley King, the Secretary of the Company, pointed out that in the past, the removal of goods from Kowloon to Hong Kong, and vice versa, was a tedious and costly process. The new service, he said, would be a great convenience to the public, as it would enable them to transport their goods in a safe and reliable manner, and at a reasonable cost. The Company, he added, was proud to be the first to introduce this service in Hong Kong, and was confident that it would be a great success.

starting the new service, full advantage had been taken of the vehicular facilities in the collection of goods, luggage and furniture in Kowloon, which was transferred direct, by means of their motor trucks, to any part of the Colony. Motor transport was not only safer and quicker, but it eliminated the old-fashioned methods of clearance, involving double-handling on each side of the Harbour, methods which had now become obsolete. In addition, full security was obtained by employing a Company which had a special and experienced staff for the purpose. The trucks used for the transfer service were all of British manufacture, he added.

It is interesting to note that before the inauguration of this service, there had never been an organised system for the transport of luggage and furniture from Kowloon to Hong Kong, and vice versa. The new service, he said, would be a great convenience to the public, as it would enable them to transport their goods in a safe and reliable manner, and at a reasonable cost. The Company, he added, was proud to be the first to introduce this service in Hong Kong, and was confident that it would be a great success.

RESULTS OF THE WEEK-END MATCHES

man; Taylor, Brookes, Rawson, Murrell and Sayer. Referee: Mr. Baldwin.

First Division

ARTILLERY v. ATHLETICS

This match was played on the Sookunpoo ground yesterday, and ended in a win for the Artillery by four goals to one. The Chinese fielded practically the whole of the second eleven which carried off the Second Division Championship, while the Artillery made two changes from their regular team. The Chinese, despite their handicap put up a creditable display, and had a fair share of the game. They had quite a number of chances, but their forwards were slow in making use of them through hesitation and weak shooting.

The game started with the Gunners attacking. They forced two corners in quick succession, in one of which Gough came near to scoring with a shot which the Chinese goal keeper just managed to tip over the bar. Play was then transferred to the other side, and the Chinese had hard luck in not scoring when Lo Chai Man shot straight at the goalkeeper's legs from close-in. Immediately afterwards they were awarded a free kick just outside the penalty area, and Lo, who took the kick, sent in a nice shot which found the right top corner of the net.

Despite this early reverse, the Gunners took up the attack; and Bryant went near with a nice header. Later the same player tried a long shot which the goalkeeper stopped with his body, but from the rebound, Edmonds shot wide.

The Gunners kept up the attack, however, and soon they were rewarded with the equaliser when Pardoe sent in a long shot from the rebound of a shot by Seal, which caught the goalkeeper unawares. The Chinese then had a brief period of attack but their forwards were slow in making use of the opportunities offered and instead of shooting they preferred to try to dribble past backs.

Play was again transferred to the Chinese half, and from a nice centre by Seal, Macdonald shot at goal. The goalkeeper, instead of getting hold of the ball, punched it out, and Edmonds rushing in scored, thus giving the Gunners the lead. Immediately afterwards, the Chinese were awarded a penalty for handling, but Lo who took the spot kick shot wide. The interval arrived with the Gunners leading by two goals to one.

After the interval, the Gunners dominated play, and nothing much was seen of the Chinese attack. After about seven minutes' play, the Gunners went further ahead through Gough from a nice centre by Seal. The Chinese also had a fair share of attack but, as stated, they lacked the finishing touches. On several occasions their forwards combined exceedingly well, but when the ball was in front of their opponents' goalmouth, they always let their chances slip.

Towards the end of the game, Seal added the fourth goal for the Gunners with a well placed shot. The teams were: Royal Artillery—Combey, Allan and Wroe; Rodgers, Pardoe and Harris; Gough, Edmonds, Bryant, McDonald and Seal.

Chinese Athletics: Siu Tin Ming; Ho Cho Yin and Tang Kong Ming; Leung Yuk Tong, Lai Kwok Chiu and Ip Pang Fai; Tang Kwong Sum, Lo Chai Wan, Au Kim Fong, Mah Siu Hong and Cheung Woon Wing.

SPANISH AVIATOR IN HONG KONG

NOTABLE TRIP FROM MADRID

The famous Spanish aviator, Senior Fernando Loring y Loring, the Spanish aviator arrived at Kai Tak aerodrome at 1.30 p.m., on Saturday.

Senior Loring has been held up for several days at Phakok on the borders of Siam and French Indo-China, owing to the unfavourable flying weather. He left Madrid on March 18 on a solo flight to Manila.

Senior Loring informed our representative that conditions throughout the flight until he got Phakok had been ideal and the journey had been accomplished without incident.

In Indo-China bad weather delayed him 11 days, and it was not until Friday morning that he was able to make the 24 hours' trip to Hanoi. He reached there shortly before noon on Friday.

Following an overhaul of his machine he left for Hong Kong on Saturday morning at 7.30 a.m. making the trip to the Colony in 54 hours, the weather being bad, with low clouds, fog and rain.

Senior Loring said that he would probably leave for the Philippines at daybreak to-day, but unlike last year he would not fly to Appari, going direct to Manila instead.

Senior Loring's Comper Swift machine has an 85 h.p. engine, and a cruising speed of 120 m.p.h. with a maximum speed of 140 m.p.h. It is a single-seater monoplane and very economical.

Senior Loring left Madrid on March 18, and on March 25 he crossed India from Jodhpur to Calcutta in 54 hours. He flew from Calcutta to Rangoon in six hours through bad weather, and left that port on March 28 for Lakhon hoping to land in the Philippines on March 29. The weather was unfavourable and he was forced to land at Phakok, where he remained until the weather improved sufficiently to allow him to proceed.

Senior Loring though handicapped by the weather, is making good progress, having taken only 21 days to fly from Madrid. Last year, he left Madrid on April 24 and arrived in Manila on July 11, taking nearly three months for the flight.

Senior Loring hopes to fly back to Spain.

THIRD DIVISION

S. CHINA v. ATHLETICS

A goal scored by Tong Hing in the first few minutes decided the match between South China and Athletics at Caroline Hill.

South China enjoyed the majority of the play, and it was only poor finishing on the part of the forwards that kept the score down.

LINCOLNS v. R.E.

By beating the Royals Engineers by 2 goals to 1 at Sookunpoo, the Lincolns became runners-up for this Division.

In the first half Clarke and Setters scored for the Lincolns, and Lester for the Engineers.

R.A.F. v. VARSITY

The University, surprised the R.A.F. by two goals to one in the match played at Happy Valley.

Lee gave the University the lead in the first half, and Tait scored the equaliser for the R.A.F. Towards the end, however, Wong put the University ahead.

FOOTBALL

First Division

KOWLOON v. LINCOLNS

This match was played at Sookunpoo, and the Kowloon were lucky to hold the Lincolns to a goalless draw. Except in the open stages, the Kowloon were continuously on the defensive, but the Lincolns forwards experienced great difficulty in controlling the light ball, and this probably accounted for their failure to score.

In the first half, Kowloon attacked for a while, but the position was soon reversed. However, the Lincolns forwards were slow in shooting, many nice centres by Hocquard and Baldry being wasted. On two occasions, Baldry came very near to scoring, but Cook, the Kowloon goalkeeper just managed to save at the expense of fruitless corners.

After the interval, the play was almost a repetition of the first half, the Lincolns being continuously on the attack, but failed to score. At one stage, three consecutive corners were given to the Lincolns, and from each one, Cook saved brilliantly. Both teams tried hard to score in the last few minutes, and Harding went close with a good shot.

Lincolns:—Heath; Turner, Roden; Dudley, Cork, Bett; Baldry, Harding, Malpas, Ridley and Hocquard.

Kowloon:—Cook; Goulter, Walker; Tillery, Bliss, Staveley; White, Willis, Phillips, Webb and Bickford.

POLICE v. RECREIO

These two teams met at King's Park, and although beaten by four goals to one, the Club de Recreio are to be congratulated for their lucky display.

The Police had the best of the game in the first half, but the Recreio improved amazingly in the second, and the Police goal was lucky to remain intact on several occasions.

The Recreio were the first to open the scoring when Goncalves sent in a bouncing shot which Minty misjudged. The Police, however, responded well to this early setback, and bombarded the Portuguese goal continuously. Eventually C. Pile equalised for the Police when he sent in a nice curling shot from the wing. Several minutes later Channings put the Police further ahead from a free-kick just outside the penalty area. The Recreio then had a short period of attack, but Perkins played well in defence.

Play was then transferred to the Portuguese half, and C. Pile added the Police third goal from a nice pass by Shepherd. Just before the interval, Moss increased their lead to four during a melee in front of goal.

After the interval, the Recreio improved considerably and came very near to scoring on several occasions. The Police were kept continuously on the defensive, and were rather lucky to repulse the Portuguese attack.

Police:—Minty; Perkins, Blackburn; Wheeler, Channings, Brittain; T. Pile, Johnson, Moss, Shepherd and C. Pile.

Recreio:—Lawrence; Silva Netto; Marques; Guterres, Figueiredo, Mackintosh, Castilho, Gomes Delgado, Goncalves, and Santos. Referee: Mr. Brown R.A.
